

2018 is the Year of the YAAN

Three Young Apprentice Ambassador Network (YAAN) members win at the National Apprenticeship Awards 2018

It was a clean sweep for the Young Apprentice Ambassador Network (YAAN) members at the 15th National Apprenticeship Awards, co-hosted by George Clarke, who is best known for Channel 4's Amazing Spaces.

George Clarke was joined by Lois McClure, Chair of the North West YAAN, and Dexter Hutchings, from the London YAAN, to lead the glittering celebration held in London on Wednesday 28th November. The awards saw 12 YAAN members shortlisted for the finals, with all three apprentice categories being won by current YAAN members.

This year's Apprentice of the Year award winners are:

- Muhammad Uddin, Yorkshire Housing – Intermediate Apprentice of the Year
- Daniel Millington, HydraForce Hydraulics – Advanced Apprentice of the Year
- Jordan Coultman, Weightmans LLP – Higher or Degree Apprentice of the Year

Sharing their thoughts about the awards, the winners added:

Muhammad Uddin

"I believe this award will be recognised throughout my career. It will shine on my CV and will give me such confidence."

Daniel Millington

"Having this award will propel my career as I've already been given larger and more complex projects to work on, therefore increasing the development rate of my skills."

Jordan Coultman

"The awards will raise my profile and validate me as a hard-working employee who can make a valid contribution to a business."

The Young Apprentice Ambassador Network is led by the National Apprenticeship Service. It supports current and past apprentices to share their apprenticeship stories to inspire future apprentices.

If you are interested in finding out more about YAAN please visit www.amazingapprenticeships.com/yaan

Notes to editors:

For more about the National Apprenticeship Awards 2018 please visit: <https://appawards.co.uk>